FLORIDA LIGHTHOUSES

Built primarily in the late 1800's and after decades of withstanding the onslaught of hurricanes and the destructive forces of nature, many Florida lighthouses remain standing today. Their longevity and endurance are a testament to the dedication and tenacity of the people who have built and maintained them. Lighthouse towers have been a source of awe and wonder for many people, but for those who navigate Florida's waterways, our lighthouses have been and continue to remain a navigational necessity.
