

Holocaust Survivor Fee Waiver Program

JIMMY PATRONIS, CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER, STATE OF FLORIDA

The right thing to do is the only thing to do.

The Florida Department of Financial Services assists survivors in obtaining wire transfer fee waivers on all European reparation payments. An estimated 12,500 Holocaust survivors and their families in Florida were being assessed an international wire transfer fee, ranging from $10 to $40 per transaction. Currently, 21 financial institutions in Florida are participating in the Fee Waiver Program and have agreed to waive the wire transfer fee on reparation payments. Survivors who are being assessed an international wire transfer fee from a European settlement fund are encouraged to seek assistance from our office.

Please visit the Department's Holocaust Victims Assistance Program website at www.MyFloridaCFO.com/Division/Consumers/Holocaust which includes a list of participating financial institutions in Florida, additional information and contact numbers regarding Holocaust insurance claims, a generic fee waiver form for financial institutions and the Holocaust Victims Assistance Act. While no one can ever fully repay those who suffered through this atrocity, the Department of Financial Services will do all it can to keep money in their pockets.

What else can we do to help?
