Course Overview
This course provides theoretical framework for the ethical, sociological, organizational, political, and legal components of community risk reduction, as well as a methodology for the development of a community risk reduction plan.

Course Objectives
This course provides theory, techniques, and tools to identify and develop intervention strategies and to implement and modify community risk reduction programs.

Course Requirements
The successful student will demonstrate proficiency of the established objectives and job performance requirements by participating in a variety of class discussions and activities and demonstrate mastery of the course content through a combination of quizzes, tests, papers, projects and/or presentations as assigned by the course instructor.

Contact Hours
This course requires 45 contact hours.

Certification Program
This course is part of the Fire Officer IV and Fire Code Administrator Certification Programs.
Continuing Education Credits
Approved for 45 CEUs toward Firesafety Inspector and Fire Instructor.

Instructor Qualifications:

Recommended Textbook
Community Risk Assessment Version 1.5, Vision 20/20, February 2016
Chapter 633, Florida Statutes and Rule 69A, Florida Administrative Code Booklet

Recommended Practical Applications
The Bureau of Fire Standards and Training (BFST) recommends using real data in all course deliveries whenever feasible. Consistent with the dynamic needs of the Florida Fire Service, practical applications for this course should include projects, case studies, activities, and experiences that are appropriate to the given course including, but not limited to:

2. The Florida Fire Incident Reporting System (FFIRS) and National Incident Fire Reporting System (NFIRS).

Fire Officer IV Job Performance Requirements
The bolded and underlined Job Performance Requirements (JPRs) are addressed in this course curriculum.

JPRS not underlined are addressed in the course listed under “Associated BFST Course.”
